

WIFE FOLLOWS HER HUSBAND TO GRAVE

PNEUMONIA FOLLOWING SPAN- ISH INFLUENZA CARRIES OFF FOUR OTHER LONDONERS.

(Special Despatch to The Globe.)

London, Ont., Oct. 3. — Mrs. John Humphries of Dillabough avenue, whose husband, a motorman on the Street Railway, was buried yesterday as a result of pneumonia following influenza, died from the same cause to-day.

There have been reported 35 cases of Spanish influenza in London and vicinity, including Carling Heights. Besides Mrs. Humphries, four others died from pneumonia to-day: Miss Bella Harris, Dillabough avenue; William H. Ballman, 7 Chester street; Miss Phyllis G. Foster, 309 Horton street, and William Brooks Hackett street.

One hundred and thirty-four pupils of an enrollment of two hundred and eighty-six were absent from Ealing School to-day. A form of influenza has broken out in that district.

PROF. HOOPER DEAD.

Medford, Mass., Oct. 3.—Prof. William Leslie Hooper, for 35 years a member of the Tufts College Faculty, and acting President of the institution in 1912 and 1913, died at his home here to-day. Prof. Hooper was born in Halifax, N.S. Since 1890 he had been head of the electrical engineering department of Tufts.

SMALL BOY PERISHES.

Florence, Ont., Oct. 3.—Clarence, a small son of Mr. and Mrs. B. Season, lost his life when their house was completely destroyed by fire early to-day. The family was awakened by smoke, and all but the boy were taken from the upstairs windows. The cause of the fire is unknown.