

YOUNG BANDITS AT ISLINGTON

Grocer Held Up and Robbed at the Point of Revolver

A series of hold-ups took place in the west end of the city and in Islington on Saturday night. Riding in an automobile which had been stolen from Dr. Wright, 99 Bloor street west, four boys are said to have made brief stops while one of their number relieved pedestrians of small sums of money at the point of a revolver.

About 9 o'clock Saturday night three young men entered Howard Burton's grocery store at Islington, and, covering Burton with a revolver, robbed his cash register, succeeding in getting away with between $50 and $70. The Toronto police were immediately notified, and the number of the auto, in which the young bandits had made off, was sent all over the county.

EPIDEMIC ABATING IN AURORA

Though Three Deaths Occur M. O. H. is Op- timistic

In spite of three deaths occurring yesterday at Aurora, Dr. Stevenson, the local M.O.H., believes that the epidemic is abating. Nearly all the deaths that have occurred so far have been in the rural district surrounding, and very few in the town itself. Mrs. Clara Pugh, whose husband died last week, succumbed yesterday morning. Isaac Rom, aged twenty-one, a dry goods merchant on Wellington street, died after being ill eleven days. W. A. McWilliams was the third victim. His remains were brought to the city.

The second death from influenza in Islington occurred yesterday, when Wm. Skewis succumbed to the disease. Mr. Skewis was a Scotsman, who had been in this country only a year.

PNEUMONIA TAKES CATHOLIC PRIEST

Rev. Francis Corrigan Dies Following Attack of Influenza

Rev. Francis Corrigan, C.S.S.R., one of the priests of the Redemptorist Order of Canada, died of pneumonia, resulting from Spanish influenza, at St. Michael's Hospital yesterday morning after a brief illness of a week's duration.

Father Corrigan was born in Toronto about 30 years ago, but made all his studies for the priesthood in the United States. Following his ordination, three years ago last June he was stationed at St. Ann's, Montreal, and was assigned by his superiors to the missionary band of St. Patrick's Church, Toronto, which gives missions all over the country. He is survived by a mother and sister, who reside in the city. He contracted influenza while assisting on mission work in the Province of Quebec.
