

HEALTH OFFICIAL HIMSELF LAID UP

Mr. Henry Rowland Has Been Fighting Hard Against Epidemic

Mr. Henry A. Rowland, ex-Alderman for Ward Two, and Secretary of the Department of Public Health, was indisposed last evening, and was obliged to retire at an early hour. It is believed that Mr. Rowland is not suffering from the Spanish Influenza, but that he is the victim of overwork. He has been laboring practically night and day during the past two weeks in the war against the epidemic that is now raging in the city.
