

TO FIGHT THE FLU

The Globe (1844-1936); Oct 11, 1918; ProQuest Historical Newspapers: The Globe and Mail
pg. 2

TO FIGHT THE FLU

Mr. Charles Aikens, a Montreal man, has invented an anti-Spanish "flu" mask. It is lined with several thicknesses of gauze, which can be kept moist with any volatile antiseptic solution, such as eucalyptis. The can at the side of the face holds about a half-ounce of solution, and as it stands will last for eight to ten hours. These masks are already in extensive use in Montreal.