

SUNDAY FOOTBALL AT THE HARVARD STADIUM

ADJUTANT DUNHAM TELLS OF U.S. GOVERNMENT'S ATTITUDE TOWARD COLLEGE SPORT.

Cambridge, Mass., Sept. 30.—Sunday football in the Harvard Stadium will be very likely played this fall by a team representing the Harvard soldiery and units of nearby colleges, such as Tufts, Boston College and Massachusetts Institute of Technology. This will be the first Sabbath football game ever staged in the Stadium, although Soldiers' Field has been the scene of several Sunday baseball games the past summer.

That there is a possibility of the Harvard Army Training Corps playing football this fall was made known to-day when Captain Carroll Dunham, Adjutant, in answer to questions regarding the Government's attitude toward college sports, said:

"The Government believes in athletics to foster company spirit and maintain the high morale of the unit, but it has taken an aggressive attitude toward the heavy expense of organized athletics. Long trips, professional coaches and expensive training tables are taboo."

FOOTBALL NEWS

Queen's Unique football team will hold a practice at Willowvale Park to-night at 6.30 o'clock.

The Hamilton Tiger O.R.F.U. junior team is trying to arrange an exhibition game with a Toronto team for a game in Hamilton on Thanksgiving Day.

Owing to their military duties during the day the football team of West Virginia University are doing their practising from 6 to 7 o'clock in the morning.

The star of the Rutgers eleven this season is Robeson, a burly negro right guard. Robeson weighs 203 pounds and has been particularly successful with the forward pass. Rutgers beat Ursinus on Saturday by 66 to 0.

The authorities at Ridley College state that the Canadian Press despatch from Niagara to the effect that there is an epidemic of Spanish influenza at the college, is not true. The alleged prevalence of the trouble at Ridley was given as the reason for the cancellation of a football game at Niagara Camp on Saturday between Ridley and the camp team.